

ENGAGING AUSTRALIA

COURSE DETAILS

Course Code: TBD

Instructor: Onsite Faculty

Contact Hours: 45

Credits: 3

Language of Instruction: English

Course Prerequisites: None

COURSE DESCRIPTION

This course is designed to give direct-enroll students a comprehensive, multi-disciplinary understanding of the national, regional, and local context in which they are studying. By exploring key issues and debates that are shaping contemporary Australia—and situating them historically—students gain nuanced awareness of the social, cultural, political, and economic currents surrounding them. In so doing, this curricular component supports and enhances students' direct-enroll coursework and opens the possibility of more intentional exploration and engagement with Australia during their time abroad.

In addition to classroom-based teaching and learning, Engaging Australia makes extensive use of experiential learning and field study as a means of engaging the content and the host location. Through a series of guest lectures, workshops, and excursions, students are introduced to key issues in identity, place, and belonging, and learn how to discuss how these are experienced and contested in Sydney. Structured self-reflection is another important pedagogical tool that allows students to unpack and understand their academic and lived experience abroad.

The course is embedded in the field of cultural studies and draws on insights from politics, history, environmental studies, anthropology, geography and sociology. Sydney is foregrounded and used as a means in which issues on local, regional and national levels will be explored. The core topics examine the forces shaping contemporary Australia and their historical context, and include:

Topics include:

- Engaging (and unpacking) Sydney
- The construction of the nation:
- collision and hybridity of past and present
- Sustainability and the environment

- Power relations: ethnicity, gender, class, and religion
- Contemporary issues in the news
- The Australian culture of education and lessons to be learned from studying abroad
- Sport, music, and culture: the glue that binds us

COURSE OBJECTIVES

A unique aspect of this course is a focus on the multiplicity of ‘authentic voices’ of social, cultural, economic, and political change—frequently conflicting and contradictory—which enhance students’ appreciation of the arbitrary nature of historical change and the creation of the modern. One short paragraph overview.

Course-specific Student Learning and Development Outcomes (SLDOs) are listed below. CAPA-wide SLDOs, which inform all aspects of your study abroad experience, are listed at the end of the syllabus.

Learning Outcomes

Through your participation in this course, you:

- Gain a nuanced understanding of the social, cultural, political, and economic context in which they are studying, and the ability to situate it historically.
- Explore and actively engage their local urban environment and position what they see and experience to broader national, regional, and global dynamics.
- Research and discuss current events that impact their local, regional, and national context, and learn how to offer effective comparative analysis with their home location.
- Apply what they are learning to their direct-enroll coursework, and to the greater Australian university and educational context.
- Appreciate and articulate the value of studying abroad to future work and/or post-graduate study.
- Discuss key concepts in belonging and identity.
- Through a blog communicate key differences between Australian and American societies.

Developmental Outcomes

This course contributes to your personal and professional development by allowing you to: demonstrate responsibility & accountability, independence & interdependence, goal orientation, self-confidence, resilience, appreciation of differences.

METHODOLOGY

This course involves a combination of lectures, class discussion and field classes. You are expected to participate actively in all class sessions and should take regular, detailed notes for use in graded assignments. Student-led discussion sessions are designed to facilitate participation and promote debate.

Experiential Learning & Field Visits

Experiential learning is an essential component of education abroad, and participation in field activities is a required part of coursework. In this course, you explore the city in which you are studying using a variety of tools. This provides the opportunity to gain nuance and context on your context and the subject you are studying, as well as to collect information and resources for assigned papers, projects, and presentations.

Assigned field components may include but are not limited to the following:

- The Art Gallery of NSW
- The Australian Museum
- Sculpture by the Sea
- Sydney Fringe Festival
- The Sydney Observatory

You are also strongly encouraged to participate in CAPA's co-curricular program activities, which further enhance and enrich your education abroad experience and understanding of the subject matter.

GRADING

Grading Rubric

LETTER GRADE	SCORE OR PERCENTAGE	DESCRIPTION
A	93–100	Achievement that is outstanding relative to the level necessary to meet course requirements.
A-	90–92	Achievement that is significantly above the level necessary to meet course requirements.
B+	87–89
B	83–86
B-	80–82	Achievement that meets the course requirements in every

C+	77-79	respect.
C	73-76
C-	70-72	Achievement that is worthy of credit even though it fails to meet fully the course requirements.
D+	67-69
D	60-66
F	0-59	Represents failure (or no credit) and signifies that the work was either (1) completed but at a level of achievement that is not worthy of credit or (2) was not completed and there was no agreement between the instructor and the student that the student would be awarded an I.

How Grades are Weighted

The final grade is weighted as follows:

COURSE REQUIREMENTS	PERCENTAGE
Participation	10%
Oral presentation	30%
Quizzes	20%
Blog Posts	40%

Assessment Details

Participation - 10%

You are expected to contribute regularly, and in an informed manner, to in-class discussions and CANVAS discussion posts. Readings should be completed in advance of class so that you can demonstrate your knowledge of the material through relevant comments, questions, and analysis. Participation during student presentations is an essential component of this assessment and is designed to generate discussion and debate about contemporary issues.

Oral Presentation - 30%

Students will lead the discussion in a session on a topic relating to the key learning outcomes for the course. Come prepared with questions and points of discussion for the group based on the readings for your topic and any from your own research. You will be marked on your ability to summarise the main points in the readings and to engage other students in a discussion/debate on the topic.

Quizzes - 20%

2 x online quizzes on course material covered to date. (10% per quiz).

Blog Posts 40%

2 x 1000-word blogs that explain key aspects of Australian society using the concepts discussed in class. Choose one or more of the topics from the course, such as gender, culture, politics, environment and/or sport to illustrate your points. The intended audience is study abroad students planning to study in Australia. Exemplary blogs may be put forward for publication on the CAPA website.

Submissions

All written work should be submitted directly via Turnitin on CANVAS according to the due dates listed. Please keep a hard copy of all written work. Late papers will be penalized at 3% per day unless prior arrangements have been made with the instructor.

POLICIES

CAPA Academic & Attendance Policies

Attendance is mandatory for all CAPA classes. Expectations for attendance, consequences for tardiness or unexcused absences, and other CAPA policies governing academic performance and integrity are outlined in the CAPA Academic and Attendance Policy. Additional requirements that may be associated with a specific course or program are addressed in the on-site term syllabus.

University of Minnesota Policies & Procedures

The University of Minnesota serves as CAPA's School of Record. As such, all CAPA students should be aware of and prepared to respect the University's policies surrounding academic integrity.

Academic integrity is essential to a positive teaching and learning environment. All students enrolled in university courses are expected to complete coursework responsibilities with fairness and honesty. Failure to do so by seeking unfair advantage over others or misrepresenting someone else's work as your own can result in disciplinary action. The University Student Conduct Code defines scholastic dishonesty as follows:

Scholastic dishonesty means plagiarizing; cheating on assignments or examinations; engaging in unauthorized collaboration on academic work; taking, acquiring, or using test materials without faculty permission; submitting false or incomplete records of academic achievement; acting alone or in cooperation with another to falsify records or to obtain dishonestly grades, honors, awards, or professional endorsement; altering forging, or misusing a University academic record; or fabricating or falsifying data, research procedures, or data analysis.

Within this course, a student responsible for scholastic dishonesty can be assigned a penalty up to and including an "F" or "N" for the course. If you have any questions regarding the expectations for a specific assignment or exam, please ask.

STUDENT LEARNING & DEVELOPMENT OUTCOMES

Five core CAPA-wide Student Learning and Development Outcomes (SLDOs) are incorporated into all aspects of your study abroad experience.

Globalization	You are able to recognize, describe, and interpret examples of the impact of globalization in the urban environment.
Urban Environments	You are able to explore and analyze the spaces you inhabit, and reflect on differences and similarities between your home and other environments.
Social Dynamics	You are able to understand concepts of and implications of the realities of power, privilege, and inequality in urban environments.
Diversity	You are able to describe, interpret, and respect the differences and similarities within your student community and between your home country and the host country.

Personal and Professional Development	You are able to recognize the development of skills relative to personal and professional development and career preparedness: networking; communications; remote collaboration; global perspective; cultural awareness; organization; time management and prioritization; problem solving; adaptability; goal setting; and career-based or vocational skills.
